A CLOSE CALL.

A Little Babe Makes a Meal of Arsenic and is Still Alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley live in Southeast Mexico. They have a bright little child two years old, baby Laura Stanley. Sunday evening the little tot ran off to Mrs. Riggs', just across the street. In its innocent search for something to play with it found a plate of arsenic prepared for the pestiferous flies. The little one ate freely of the poison until Miss Riggs heard the plate rattle and went to investigate. She was severely frightened to see the child eating the arsenic, but fortunately thought of giving it bread and butter at once, which no doubt prevented the poison from causing fatal results. After it had been taken to its frightened mother it ejected the contents of its little stomach several times. A messenger was sent post-haste for a physician. Dr. Clarence Rothwell arrived and administered a dose of emetic. The child was quite sick that night, but was able to eat breakfast next morning.

Randolph Springs. "If I were a young man," remarked Wm. Harper, "and wanted to make a fortune, do you have any idea what I would do?"

"Not the slightest," responded the man whom he addressed, who was eager to know.

"Well, sir, I would go to Randolph Springs and build me a fine hotel. Mr. Horton, who owns the ground, said he would give me the ground if I would put up the building. I tell you that that valuable water and those Springs will grow to be a famous resort. Mr. Horton also told me that he would give four acres of ground to the various religious denominations if they would combine and erect a good building to hold conventions in."

Mr. Harper went to the Springs with his folks Tuesday.

Ko-ko of St. Lambert 5th. Mr. Geo. A. Morris, proprietor of the Lakeview herd of Jerseys, brought his fine young bull to town Saturday to show him to Jersey fanciers. He is a grand animal and was greatly admired. Ko-ko is a light fawn with dark markings, perfectly formed, and his pedigree back to the Island of Jersey is full of butter. He is a grandson of Exile of St. Lambert, who sired 39 tested daughters. Ko-ko's dam is Miss Bingo, who has a butter record of 24 pounds 12 ozs. in seven days. His sire also has a number of tested daughters. In this animal Mr. Morris has the finest bred bull in the west. He also owns Arcman, another fine fellow.

A Long Life Ended. Her grandma Marcena Green died at her home on North Water Street Monday morning at 4 o'clock. She was one of the oldest ladies in Mexico, if not the oldest. She was 81 years old and a native of St. Charles county, moving from there to Callaway, thence to Macon, thence to Monroe and located in Mexico about 7 years ago. Her husband has been deceased about thirty years. She leaves the following children: Mrs. A. M. Harrison, Mrs. L. Acuff and Miss Susie Green, all of this city, and J. B. Green, of Howard county. The deceased was not a member of any church.

Cannot Foot the People Longer.

To the Editor of the Ledger.

MEXICO, Mo., July 19.—In my issue yesterday there is an article in which is regretted the people's lack of confidence in the banks. Now, Mr. Editor, if you will reflect over this you will not seriously blame the people. Strange and unaccountable as it may seem, the bankers are either open advocates of the gold standard or are silent; and silence under the present circumstances is rightfully construed into consent. The people cannot be deceived in relation to the vast conspiracy going on to double the wealth of the creditor, and double the burdens of the debtor. That is the object of the men who are in favor of demonetizing silver.

When silver is demonetized the following results are bound to follow: The bond of the bondholder will be doubled in value.

The government can not pay it because it will have nothing to pay with.

The government will be forced to re-issue bonds at a higher rate of interest.

The colossal debts held by the east against the west will be doubled in value because of the fact that congress has, by solemn enactment, declared one gold dollar to be worth two of the present silver dollars. Interest on money will increase vastly. The factories and iron mills must cease because nobody will have any money with which to buy the output or build great improvements.

The ships will rot in the harbors and the wheat in the fields. The beef cattle will run wild on the plains of Texas and Central America. The auctioneer's red flag will fly over the commerce of this land.

Unusual bankruptcy will be the rule among the people, and nobody will prosper except the conspirators of London, Berlin and New York, and their tools who are in power engaged in making the infamous laws and forging the chains of slavery for the people.

If the bankers of the United States would come out boldly against the conspirators and in support of the money of our Republic and the ages—silver—confidence would be fully restored; the banks would be full of other people's money; commerce and industry would roll on undisturbed and the people would be happy and contented. But the people can not be fooled any longer; they will trust their friends and they will not trust their money with those who are ready all the time to say it is not money, and they will keep drawing their money out of the banks just as long as the danger of demonetization is imminent.

It is a sad thing to see our solid institutions in the west and the east, too, going down in disaster, and ruining thousands of depositors, and through no fault of the bankers, except they have been helping others to sow the wind, and they are gathering a big harvest, but it is the whirlwind they gather.

JOHN M. BARKER. Nam Medium Wan His Race. Foote Bros', Sam Medium, a yearling colt by Prince Medium, won the half mile trot at Roodhouse Tuesday with ease. Time, 1:33, 1.31 1/4. Hood, the pacer, also owned by Foote Bros., was distanced. He drew twelfth position and had to trot in the second tier on the outside; he was also run into and broke his harness and hopped. Hood is a sure enough pacer and doubtless if he had not met with the accident would have won the race. Susie B. by Clinker won the pace. Best time, 2:20 3/4.

WERE THEY MARRIED TODAY.

W. D. Willingham and Lee Willingham are Now Certainly Wedded.

Last Monday a news-gather called at W. D. Willingham's home on West Love street and asked the lady of the house if she would kindly give the particulars of W. D. Willingham and Miss Willingham's wedding. The party questioned proved to be the bride (?). "Well, I don't know much about it," she hesitatingly replied. "All I know is that we were married in Kansas Sunday evening and got ahead of my folks, who objected to the marriage. My name before marriage was Lee Willingham. My husband is my third cousin. I am only 17 years old consequently we could not get license here while my folks objected. We left Mexico Saturday evening, were married somewhere in Kansas and returned to Mexico last night. I don't know who married us nor the name of the hotel where the wedding took place."

Yesterday her mother, Mrs. Nancy Willingham, went before Prosecuting Attorney Trimble and swore out a warrant for their arrest. They were arrested by the Constable and brought before Squire Winscott about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. They were charged with unlawful behavior. Willingham agreed to have Squire Winscott marry them if this would settle the matter. The girl's mother said she would consent and Mr. Joe Williams issued the license. Squire Winscott tied the knot and Prosecuting Attorney Trimble dismissed the case. The bride and groom repaired to their home.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Only a Short Time. There is always a great question before the people. It's necessary that we should have something to talk and think about. It won't be long until we forget the imaginary financial depression of to-day. Consequently it will not be long until "everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

It Works Fine. The mammoth wheel of the new electric light plant made its first revolution Monday, when the new machinery was tested. Everything worked smoothly and perfectly. The plant will likely begin operation within the next few days. Many visitors were present to see the great wheel turn. It is said to be the biggest wheel in any interior town in the State.

A Progressive Stock Firm.

WM. H. POTTS WITH THE EVANS-SNIDER-BUEL LIVE STOCK COMPANY.

An Audrain County Non-General Selling Agent in Missouri for This Well-Known Firm. To my Friends and the Live Stock Trade in Missouri. Having accepted the position of Traveling Solicitor with the widely known and popular live stock commission house of Evans-Snider-Buel Company with offices in St. Louis, Chicago and Kansas City, I respectfully solicit your business, feeling assured that your interests will be carefully protected and promoted in the hands of this Company. I have diligently investigated its standing, responsibility, methods and facilities and find them to be second to none. It is undoubtedly the most progressive house in the trade and I commend it to those seeking high class service, combined with the advantage of every good market feature known to the trade.

For further information apply to the undersigned, or to the house directly. Respectfully, WM. H. POTTS, Box 167, Mexico, Mo. Traveling Solicitor for Evans-Snider-Buel Co., St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City.

The Currency. Mexico, Mo., July 19.—As the public may be assisted in arriving at just conclusions as to what ought to be done with our currency when Congress convenes by having some fixed elementary standpoint from which to consider this important matter, the writer, through the LEDGER, ventures to suggest the following:

1. That parity of gold and silver as used by our legislators has no reference to the commercial value of these metals but means that our gold and silver dollars shall be equal legal tenders.

2. That it is in the power of Government to carry out its intention and keep its silver and gold dollars at par for all monetary purposes within the United States.

3. That power of coinage was conferred upon the general Government to provide the states with money that would pass without discount or premium in all of them without reference to its commercial value.

4. That while the theoretic argument for a mono-metallic currency is as unanswerable as that for free trade, both are impracticabilities.

5. That those who advocate the use of two metals, and would make one subsidiary to the other beg the question in arguing for mono-metallic currency as much as those who call a revenue tariff free trade while contending for the latter.

6. That no currency has been able to maintain exclusively gold payment.

7. That all countries use silver in the make up of their currencies. England has her shilling and France her five franc piece and yet specie payments have often been suspended in both of them.

8. That the coin having the highest commercial value abroad is liable to be gathered for export and that when this is done it lessens the amount of money in circulation and therefore effects the measure of values in the country from which it is exported.

9. That to meet this inexorable law our currency ought to be based upon that metal which is least sought for in other countries.

10. That as a consequence the gold dollar of this country ought to possess less commercial value than the silver dollar, and to be used as subsidiary to it.

It is especially to this last proposition that the writer desires to call attention.

The industries and domestic commerce of this country demand at most inconceivable monetary facilities. Our present currency, composed as it is of gold, silver, treasury and national bank notes and silver certificates assisted by clearance house credits, bankers' bills and private checks is immense and yet as a measure of values it is deemed by many, if not most persons too small for that purpose. The lessening of it therefore by exports of gold obtained on demand from the Treasury on payment of greenbacks is necessarily injurious to all interests except that of those who seek to aggrandize themselves by producing a further contraction of the currency by withdrawing money from circulation and hoarding it. The only methods that can be resorted to for restoring the volume of our currency under our present laws is the issue of national bank notes and silver certificates and as both of these are liable to be ultimately redeemed by gold for export, their issue as an enlargement of the currency defeats itself. In the meantime values decrease, failures occur and panic ensues. We are now prepared for the question. Had silver been the currency basis would this have occurred? In view of what has happened in India would not national ability to sustain a sufficient currency have been increased instead of lessened? I would like to add more but the limited character of your columns forbid it at present.

True Democratic Doctrine. To the Editor of the Ledger. Mexico, Mo., July 19.—All honor to the grand men who are not afraid to speak out in favor of the people upon the great issues. Champ Clark's recent speech at the Tammany banquet shows his far-seeing in the cause of right. Gov. Stone was the first man who had the temerity to beard the lion in his den. He spoke in western language. Clark doubled the dose and rubbed it in, but they kicked so hard that Hon. Joseph Hendrix, a goldite, was put on the stand to attempt to demolish the westerner. Mr. Clark outlined the western platform in the following demands:

Repeal the Sherman law; make money of both silver and gold and a sufficient supply of paper currency; break down the robber tariff; purge the pension list; tax incomes over ten thousand dollars; enforce civil service; improve the great waterways and crush out monopolies and trusts. This is Democratic doctrine, neither more nor less, and I do not understand how a man can have the conscience to call himself a Democrat if he believes otherwise. John Sherman has announced his adherence to the administration policy. Cobb, of Missouri, is a conspicuous tool of the goldites. The Globe-Democrat stands by Cleveland. Gen. Palmer advocates a gold standard and approves of Cleveland's action in appointing men to office who will use their influence in repealing the Sherman bill. The Republic company kicked Col. C. H. Jones out because of his too vigorous western policy and started out very briskly to undo the Jones policy but since the great silver convention of the west shows such a unanimity of sentiment the Republic has "slowed up," and seems to be actually back tracking. Missouri will send at least three grand men to the next Congress—Bland, Clark and U. S. Hall. These with Bryan, of Nebraska, Morgan, of Alabama, and Stewart, of Nevada, and others will do valiant work for the people.

A Fine Organ. Mexico was fortunate, indeed, in securing such a master of the organ as Prof. Edward Kreiser, of Kansas City, at the concert Monday night. It is no easy task for one who plays a large pipe organ to do himself justice on a reed organ. The organ used Monday night was the Mozart, manufactured by Story & Clark, of Chicago. It has twelve sets of reeds. The "pipe" and "cello" stops imitate the pipe organ to perfection. It is very powerful but very smooth and is far superior to any organ ever exhibited in our city. These instruments are for sale by the Mexico Machine and Music Co. This firm is up to the times and handles all the latest improved and best musical instruments.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To My Friends and Customers:

It affords me pleasure to announce to my numerous friends and customers that I have accepted a position as Native Cattle Salesman with the very popular and reliable Live Stock Commission House of Evans-Snider-Buel Company, with which I have been connected for the past 3 years. My engagement places me in the Native Cattle Division of the St. Louis National Stock Yards Market, where I hope to meet the continued confidence and patronage of those who have so long entrusted me with their business and to be the means of inducing others to serve their own interests by becoming patrons of a house that is in every way splendidly equipped to handle this branch of the trade. Customers will find the service and methods of this house perfect in every detail, extending alike to the Cattle, Hog and Sheep Departments. As an old-time shipper and general handler of all kinds of Live Stock, I patronized this house a number of years before engaging in its service, so that in commending it to the favor of the trade I am prompted by the best motives based upon practical knowledge of its facilities and advantages for satisfactorily and profitably serving the interests of a large and increasing list of regular customers. I will deem it a personal favor if intending shippers will give me an opportunity to render them whatever service, information or assistance that may lie within my power. Awaiting your commands, I am, Very Respectfully, ROWENA ITEMS.

TULIP ITEMS. Correspondence of the Ledger. TULIP, July 17.—Wheat and oats harvest about over and the hay harvest will begin this morning. Oats crop was much damaged by the heavy rains and rust and the yield will not exceed 60 or 75 per cent of a full crop; the corn crop has improved very much within the last ten days and should the rains continue there will be a large yield on all the rolling lands. Miss Kate Gray, who has been visiting the family of W. H. Mason for a few weeks, has returned to her home at Carthage, Mo. A little daughter of James Davenport fell off the fence Saturday evening and broke her arm. She was brought to Tulip for treatment. Misses Duboise and Roberts, who have been giving music lessons in this vicinity, closed their engagements last Saturday and will leave for their home near Hallsville to-day. There is considerable sickness around Tulip now. Mostly fevers and chills with a few cases of flux. Old Grandma Maxey, who tell and fractured her hip some three months ago, is beginning to get around some on crutches now. Some of the boys that went to Wray, Colo., last fall have returned and report it very dry in that country. They say if rain does not come in a short time the entire crop will be burned up.
